

OrthoPediatrics Corp. Enhances Product Offering with Upgraded PediLoc® Femur Plate System

November 27, 2018

WARSAW, Ind., Nov. 27, 2018 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- OrthoPediatrics Corp. (NASDAQ: KIDS), a company exclusively focused on advancing the field of pediatric orthopedics, announced today the U.S. launch of its new PediLoc® Femur Plate System. Building on the success of the existing PediLoc franchise, this upgraded offering boasts a lower profile screw to minimize soft tissue irritation, new locking drill guides, which simplify screw hole drilling and screw placement, and new 4.5mm straight locking compression plate options.

The breadth of this product offering allows surgeons to appropriately address multiple indications in patients with varying skeletal maturity levels by utilizing a plate that accurately fits the femur. Further, the enhanced system is configured for increased hospital and operating room synergy by utilizing OP's existing core systems.

Joe Hauser, Vice President of Trauma & Deformity Correction, commented, "We are proud of our commitment to delivering innovative products to pediatric orthopedic surgeons. Our commitment to improve our legacy systems while also introducing new surgical systems demonstrates our dedication to providing superior surgical solutions for children. The PediLoc franchise is an important aspect of our business, and this enhanced system will provide our customers with new and improved implant options."

About PediLoc Femur

The PediLoc Femur Locking Plate System is indicated for the treatment of pediatric femur fractures and osteotomies. The anatomic design of the stainless steel plates eliminates the need for intraoperative bending and contouring, while also providing superior fixation with either locking or non-locking screws.
