Forward-Looking Statements

This presentation includes "forward-looking statements" within the meaning of U.S. federal securities laws. You can identify forward-lo statements by the use of words such as "may," "might," "will," "should," "expect," "plan," "anticipate," "could," "believe," "estimate," "prc "target," "predict," "intend," "future," "goals," "potential," "objective," "would" and other similar expressions. Forward-looking statements ir risks and uncertainties, many of which are beyond OrthoPediatrics' control. Important factors could cause actual results to differ materially those in the forward-looking statements, including, among others, the risks, uncertainties and factors set forth under "Risk Factor OrthoPediatrics' Annual Report on Form 10-K filed with the SEC on March 7, 2019. Forward-looking statements speak only as of the date the made. OrthoPediatrics assumes no obligation to update forward-looking statements to reflect actual results, subsequent events, or circumstant other changes affecting such statements except to the extent required by applicable securities laws.

Use of Non-GAAP Financial Measures

This presentation includes the non-GAAP financial measure of Adjusted EBITDA, which differs from financial measures calculated in accordance U.S. generally accepted accounting principles ("GAAP"). Adjusted EBITDA in this release represents Net Loss from continuing operations, plus in expense, net plus other expense, depreciation and amortization, stock-based compensation expense, accelerated vesting of restricted stock upc IPO, and acquisition related costs. Adjusted EBITDA is presented because the Company believes it is a useful indicator of its operating perform Management uses the metric as a measure of the Company's operating performance and for planning purposes, including financial projection: Company believes this measure is useful to investors as supplemental information because it is frequently used by analysts, investors and interested parties to evaluate companies in its industry. The Company believes Adjusted EBITDA is useful to its management and investors measure of comparative operating performance from period to period. Adjusted EBITDA is a non-GAAP financial measure and should n considered as an alternative to, or superior to, net income or loss as a measure of financial performance or cash flows from operations as a me of liquidity, or any other performance measure derived in accordance with GAAP, and it should not be construed to imply that the Company's f results will be unaffected by unusual or non-recurring items. In addition, the measure is not intended to be a measure of free cash flo management's discretionary use, as it does not reflect certain cash requirements such as debt service requirements, capital expenditures and cash costs that may recur in the future. Adjusted EBITDA contains certain other limitations, including the failure to reflect our cash expenditures requirements for working capital needs and other potential cash requirements. In evaluating Adjusted EBITDA, you should be aware that i future the Company may incur expenses that are the same or similar to some of the adjustments in this presentation. The Company's presentat Adjusted EBITDA should not be construed to imply that its future results will be unaffected by any such adjustments. Management compensat these limitations by primarily relying on the Company's GAAP results in addition to using Adjusted EBITDA on a supplemental basis. The Company's GAAP results in addition to using Adjusted EBITDA on a supplemental basis. definition of this measure is not necessarily comparable to other similarly titled captions of other companies due to different methods of calcul The schedules below contain a reconciliation of Net Loss from continuing operations to non-GAAP Adjusted EBITDA.
