

OrthoPediatrics Corp. Expands Trauma and Deformity Portfolio with 3P™ Pediatric Plating Platform™ Hip System

May 07, 2025

WARSAW, Ind., May 07, 2025 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- OrthoPediatrics Corp. ("OrthoPediatrics" or the "Company") (Nasdaq: KIDS), a company focused exclusively on advancing the field of pediatric orthopedics, today announced the expansion of its Trauma and Deformity portfolio with 3P™ Pediatric Plating Platform™ Hip System, the first of several systems in the 3P family. This represents the company's 5th FDA approval in 2025.

3P Pediatric Plating Platform Hip System is a new plate and screw platform to modernize and revolutionize trauma and deformity correction treatment in the lower extremities. This family of plating systems will provide surgeons unparalleled coverage for a variety of Trauma and Deformity correcting indications by delivering unique implants and instruments to improve surgical workflow and inventory efficiency. The beta launch for 3P Hip is expected to be followed by the next system, 3P Small/Mini, early in 2026, followed by expected launches of additional systems in the upcoming years. Once complete the result we be the complete transformation of the Company's plate and screw product portfolio, giving OrthoPediatrics the most robust and modern plating portfolio in pediatric orthopedic history.

OrthoPediatrics Trauma and Deformity division President, Joe Hauser commented "The 3P Pediatric Plating Platform is a world-class system with significant opportunity to fill unmet needs. This family of systems is one of the largest product endeavors that we've taken on within the Trauma and Deformity side in our company history, and we are excited for 3P Hip to be the first step to further share-taking opportunities within the plating franchise."

CEO, David Bailey echoed those comments, saying "We continue to focus on providing surgeons with a comprehensive portfolio of innovative orthopedic treatments to address all unmet needs for pediatric patients, and the latest FDA approval for the 3P Hip System marks our 5th FDA approval thus far in 2025. I'm incredibly proud of the work our R&D team has done to achieve this goal and look forward to the addition of many more products in the future as we continue to expand our portfolio."
