

OrthoPediatrics Named 2020 Corporate Champion of the Year By World Pediatric Project

Dec 03, 2020

WARSAW, Ind., Dec. 03, 2020 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- OrthoPediatrics Corp. ("OrthoPediatrics" or the "Company") (Nasdaq:KIDS), a Company focused exclusively on advancing the field of pediatric orthopedics, announced today that the World Pediatric Project ("WPP") has named OrthoPediatrics its 2020 Corporate Champion of the Year.

WPP is a nonprofit organization whose programs link children from low-resource countries with life-changing surgical care. Through the Corporate Champion of the Year award, WPP annually recognizes a corporation whose work with WPP shows a deep and steadfast dedication to furthering its vision that every child, regardless of where they live, has access to quality, critical care in order to live a full and productive life.

"We are humbled by WPP's recognition of OrthoPediatrics and are delighted to partner with a mission-driven organization that shares our passion for improving the quality of children's lives," said Mark Throdahl, Chief Executive Officer of OrthoPediatrics. "On behalf of the entire OrthoPediatrics team, whose personal contributions to WPP are matched by Squadron Capital, our largest shareholder, we would like to thank WPP for this great honor. We look forward to continuing our efforts to advance the field of pediatric orthopedic surgery."

"OrthoPediatrics has helped provide surgery to more than 100 children through the provision of pediatric implants, equipment and financial sponsorships," said Kate Corbett, Senior Program Director at WPP. "Their team has gone above and beyond to support the advancement of WPP's mission to heal critically ill children and build healthcare capacity in the world. We could not think of a more deserving recipient for this award. We're excited to build on our partnership and make an even greater impact for the children who depend on our teams and services."
